

Cold Call Script – Developer Outreach

Opening (Direct & Respectful)

“Hey ____, this is Matthew. I’ll be quick — I source off-market development opportunities here in (state) and wanted to see if you’re actively looking for more projects right now?” Note: if possible reference the property you found their info from

(Pause.)

If They Say Yes / Maybe

“Perfect. I’m not an agent — I control deals directly. Before I send anything random, I’d rather understand your buy box so I only bring you things that actually fit, so I do not waste your time”

Buy Box Questions (Keep It Conversational)

- “Land only or tear-downs too?”
 - “What areas are you most interested in?”
 - “Price range per lot?”
 - “Minimum lot size?”
 - “Spec builds or custom?”

Position Yourself

“I’m seeing more off-market stuff before it hits MLS, especially in (area/city developer is in) . I’d rather build relationships with a few serious buyers and feed them consistently than blast deals out.”

That communicates:

- You're selective
 - You're serious
 - You think long-term

Close the Call

"What's the best way to send you deals — email or text? And if something fits perfectly, how quickly can you move?"

If They Push Back

If they say: "We're good" or "Not looking."

"Totally fair. If something exceptional crossed your desk, what would make you at least take a look?"

Keeps the door open without sounding needy.
