

Luxury Seller Cold Call Script

Sample Lux Script — acquisitions call flow for off-market luxury and redevelopment properties.

Opening & Positioning

1. Opening

"Hello [FIRST NAME]?"

Wait for a response

I'm calling about your property on [STREET NAME]. Did I catch you at a bad time?

2. Positioning (Credibility + Permission)

"I am working with a developer in your area and we are actively looking for our next project. We specialize in discreet purchases of higher-end homes and redevelopment properties — no public listings, no open houses. I am not here to waste your time and will not do so with a lowball offer.

Is this an okay time?"

If they hesitate:

"Totally fine — this will take about 60 seconds, and you can tell me if it's not relevant to you."

2. Why You're Calling (Professional, Non-Pushy)

"The reason I'm reaching out is, like I said, we're currently working with a small group of buyers looking for properties on larger or well-located lots in this area, and your property came up as a potential fit.

I'm not calling to pressure you into selling — I just want to see if a private, off-market option is something you'd ever consider."

3. Soft Interest Check (Gate Question)

"How long have you owned the property?"

"Do you have a plan for where you would go next? The only reason I ask is because we can be very flexible with our timeline and even offer sellers time after closing so that there is no stress on your end."

Lot, Zoning & Development Questions

Asked conversationally — not like an inspection.

5. Lot Size & Shape

"Do you happen to know the approximate lot size?"

Check multiple sources to verify. If they don't know, tell them: "No worries, I can find out the exact number easily."

"Is the lot fairly rectangular, or does it have any irregular boundaries?"

"Any slope, wash, or natural features that affect buildable area?"

6. Setbacks, Easements & Restrictions

"Are you aware of any easements on the property — utilities, drainage, access, or shared driveways?"

"Have you ever run into setback limitations or restrictions when making improvements?"

"Is the property subject to any deed restrictions, architectural guidelines, or neighborhood agreements?"

7. Zoning & Expansion Potential

"Do you know how the property is zoned?"

"Do you know if it allows for expansion, guest homes, or potential lot splits?"

8. Utilities & Infrastructure (Critical for Tear-Downs)

"Is the home on sewer or septic?"

"Any known issues with utilities — water, power, or gas?"

"Is gas currently on site or nearby?"

Motivation & Timing (Subtle)

9. Lifestyle & Motivation Questions

"If you ever did decide to sell, what would that next chapter look like for you?"

"Is there a particular timing that would matter — soon, later, or just whenever it makes sense?"

"What would need to happen for selling to feel worthwhile?"

Pricing (Low Pressure)

"I'm not asking for a firm number — but if you had to ballpark, where do you think the property might trade privately?"

If they hesitate:

"No problem — we usually focus on structure and options first before dialing in numbers."

Value Positioning

Luxury sellers care about this.

10. How You Operate

"Just so you know how we work — everything is handled discreetly, we typically cover seller costs, and we work around your timeline."

"Some sellers prefer certainty, privacy, and flexibility over listing publicly."

"If it ever made sense, we could outline options like selling as-is, delayed closing, or even a potential lease-back."

11. Soft Close (No Pressure)

"Would it make sense for me to take a deeper look and come back with a few private options — purely informational?"

12. Teeing Up Your Offer

"Sounds good, thank you so much for being patient with me and providing the answers to my questions. I will take this information and use it to formulate our offer for your property. Once I have everything ready, would you prefer if I called you back or sent the offer via text or email?"

13. Making The Offer

On the phone:

Hello [FIRST NAME], this is [YOUR NAME] calling you back with an offer for your property on [STREET NAME]. Is now a good time?

Fantastic, I'll keep this short and sweet for you. Please keep in mind these numbers are net to you. No commissions or closing costs on your end [plus we are offering any additional terms, like a lease back if applicable]. Our approved offer for your property is [$X,XXX,XXX].

SHUT UP UNTIL THEY SPEAK

Rebuttal 1:

I do want you to keep in mind that like I said these numbers are net to you. No commissions or closing costs on your end. This alone saves you 7-8%, so our offer is the same as if you had sold onmarket for [$X,XXX,XXX].

Rebuttal 2:

Completely understand where you are coming from. For us, this is a simple math equation. We know based on your lot how big and nice of a property we can build, and what comparable properties of that size will sell for in your neighborhood. We plug those numbers in and our offer is what came out.

Reeducation

Explain comps in their area. Run the numbers for them.

Via Text/Email
[First Name],

Our offer is as outlined below:

Purchase Price:
EMD:
Close of Escrow:
Additional Terms:

Please keep in mind these numbers are net to you. No commissions or closing costs on your end. This alone saves you 7-8%, so our offer is the same as if you had sold onmarket for [$X,XXX,XXX].

Internal Notes to Capture (For Acquisitions)

- Lot size (actual vs usable)
- Zoning / overlay
- Easements or setbacks
- Sewer vs septic
- Motivation (estate, downsizing, privacy, cash-out)
- Timing
- Seller sophistication
- Emotional attachment

Training Note (Important)

Luxury sellers respond best when:

- You don't rush to price, but affirm that you are not here to give them a lowball offer
- You lead with intelligent land questions to show you are the real deal
- You listen more than you speak
- You sell flexibility, privacy, and certainty, as well as large savings on commissions
